

BETTERMENT LOCALLY IN MINES SITUATION

Charleoi Miners Remain at Work After Holding Meeting

OTHER MINERS GO OUT

Fourth Pool and Lower Pool Controversy Shows Little Change

The mining situation in this community is practically unchanged with the possible exception that the suspension is more complete than ever. Efforts are made by the miners to induce those who did go back to work to quit, and this has been more or less successful. At the Star mine below Monongahela and at the Naomi mine near Fayette City, the miners who were at work were persuaded to quit by delegations from other mines which had voted to suspend until another district convention is called to take action.

The miners of the East Charleoi mine, or Henderson mine, as it is called, across the river from Charleoi, held a meeting Monday and voted to quit work and join in the suspension movement. This mine had been working up to that time. The suspension is becoming more complete. Despite the efforts of the district United Mine Workers officials who have been trying to allay the restless movement of the miners and keep them at work until the wage scale is adjusted.

Monday night William Feeney who is on the official staff of the district organization addressed the miners of the Charleoi Coal Works, and the men voted unanimously to continue at work. The circular sent out by the district officials to the miners will have some weight, it is believed, in explaining the situation, and keeping the men in line to support the action of their leaders. The circular is as follows:

"Whereas, An evident attempt is being made throughout the district to create confusion and the ultimate purpose is to disrupt and destroy the efficiency of your organization. The paid hirelings of the non-union interests are, as in the past trying to earn their ill-gotten wages by misrepresenting the real facts in the case. Your District Scale Committee has a tentative understanding with the operators' association that the miners' wages, hours of labor, etc., that have been in existence for the past two years, will be paid for the coming two years, with Clause 3 of the Cleveland Agreement eliminated, subject to a referendum vote of the membership.

"The instructions of your Policy Committee, formulated in Chicago, was to reaffirm the Cleveland contract with Clause 3 eliminated and one inserted which gives the miners the right to adjust local inequalities, such as the safety lamp proposition, uniform outside day wage scale, back action dump and other various dead work inequalities.

"Your District Scale Committee has obeyed the instructions issued by the Policy Committee in tentatively agreeing to the Cleveland contract, as hereinbefore stated, pending the rejection

RELIGIOUS SOLEMNITY THIS WEEK

Holy Week Observances
Being Held at Charleoi Churches

CULMINATION SUNDAY

The Holy Week celebrations at St. Jerome's church will be on Maundy or Holy Thursday, with mass at 2 o'clock a. m., commemorating the institution of the Blessed Sacrament. On this day two hosts are consecrated one to be kept for the next day. The second consecrated host is kept in the repository, usually the side altar, and the faithful adore all day. In the evening there will be a sermon and benediction. On this day theaters are devoted and in some churches the feet of a certain number are washed, as our Lord did on this day.

On Good Friday will be celebrated a mass of the pre-sanctified, in which the host consecrated the day before is used. This is not a real mass. The passion, according to St. John, is read and the cross unveiled and adored by the people. In the evening a special sermon will be delivered on the passions of Christ and stations of the cross. The Lamentations of Jeremiah will be sung by the choir.

On Saturday of Holy Week various prophecies symbolizing the life, sufferings and death of Christ are read. The paschal candle is blessed as is also the Easter water and the baptismal water. This is followed by mass.

Easter Sunday which is one of the greatest days in the Christian churches, is commemorative of the resurrection of Christ. Solemn services will be held at the usual Sunday hours at St. Jerome's. Special music will be rendered under direction of Joseph Schoener, director and Mrs. B. Kleist.

Angelo is either the first or last name of an Italian that a boarding boss of Second street is looking for. The boarding boss's name is not known. On Sunday night a shot was fired. Angelo came down stairs from his room with blood dropping from a side of his face, evidently coming from a bullet wound. "Where are you going?" he was asked. "Never mind," he replied. He went somewhere and has not returned. The boarding boss claims six months' rent is due.

organism, and appropriate sermons delivered. Eight of the new stained glass windows have been placed in St. Jerome's church and the rest will follow shortly after Easter.

PROF. DANIEL THE COMPOSER OF MANY SONGS

Entertainments given by the schools at the high school auditorium during last month were almost entirely the products of "home industry." Music was a prime feature and it was composed at home. Prof. I. T. Daniel, music supervisor in the schools who had the leading part in the training of the children and under whose direction the entertainments were given composed practically all the special numbers.

Chief among his compositions used in the entertainments were: "The Spanish Maidens," used by the Ninth street school; two "Fairy Songs," and "Little Red Riding Hood" song, used by the Second street school; "Good Night" used by the Crest avenue school and arrangements of the Huntsman's Chorus used by the Second street school and Sailor's Chorus, used by the Crest avenue school.

Since coming to Charleoi Prof. I. T. Daniel has composed about 75 songs, most of which were used in the schools. They have been of all grades ranging from easy songs for the first grades up to the difficult songs for the higher grades.

Prof. Daniel has during his musical career published several songs, some of them having been sung by some of the most noted singers of the country. His compositions are all of a high grade and on a par with the compositions of other of the 13 leading musicians of the country among which he was numbered recently by a musical writer.

Condition of Church Good

First Presbyterian Members Hold Congregational Meeting--Trustees Elected

Numerous reports were heard from various societies and organizations connected with the First Presbyterian church at a meeting of the members of the congregation Monday evening. The church and the societies were found to be in good shape financially. Dr. J. K. Peregrine and Dr. J. W. Hunter. A good attendance was noted.

TO GIVE A NAME TO TEAM

Charleoi Baseball Club Title to be Chosen by Women

DOZEN PLAYERS SIGNED

Matters pertaining to the booking of ten or a dozen exhibition games, to the sale of season tickets to games, to the signing of players and to the matter of getting under way a week's campaign for the choice of a popular title for the new Charleoi club in the Pa. W. Va. league are keeping President Paul B. Wreath of the club busy today. During the fore part of May good teams will be brought here for exhibition games. One of them will be the Cuban Stars which will play on May 16.

Coupons will be published in the Mail that are to be used in suggesting a popular title for the Charleoi team. They will be returnable to the Mail. Ladies are to be the voters, and any lady may turn in as many suggested titles as she pleases. The final date will be May 15, when a choice will be made by a committee that in the meantime will be selected. The lady who makes the best selection of a title will be awarded a season ticket for the games.

President Wreath will sell a limited number of season tickets, and with this end in view will call upon business men and others in a few days. No coupon books will be issued, he says, just a card with the name of the holder written thereon. The schedule calls for about 52 home games.

President Wreath is of the opinion that the game with the Cuban Stars on May 16 will be worth half the price of a season ticket. He be-

Increase of One Mill From Last Year Noted by Council

EXPENSES ARE HIGH

Public Improvements Result in Increase of Borough Debt

In addition to the regular routine of business transacted by the North Charleoi borough council at its regular monthly meeting Monday night, the millage for the coming year was set at 13 mills.

Council went carefully over the list of finances before fixing the millage. Eleven mills will be provided for the general expense and two mills for the sinking fund.

The millage as set is an increase of one mill over that of last year, when the rate was 12 mills. Numerous borough improvements increasing the borough indebtedness necessitated the increase it is stated.

Council instructed the Board of Health to enforce the ordinance regulating the maintenance of water closets and cess pools. The election of J. Hogan as fire chief was confirmed. A report of the condition of the borough treasury for the quarter ending March 31, was given as follows:
Receipts ..... $1,538.00
Disbursements ..... 1,726.00
Balance in treasury ..... $252.84

Bills to the amount of $252.84 were read and ordered paid. Members of council present were: Counciling Cope, Club, Bare, Myers, Woodward and Nebalung.

FUNERAL SERVICES TO BE HELD TONIGHT

Notice to Tax Payers

I have been instructed by council and school board to collect all delinquent taxes on property assessed the borough of Charleoi by June 1, 1914. I am also making up a list of all delinquent personal taxes, these are not paid by April 25, 1914. They will be collected through the employer, according to law.

WASHINGTON REPUBLICAN
The tabulation of the party registration for the May primary shows that Washington county is Republican by a decided plurality. With a registration of 12,456, the Republicans lead the Democrats, the next highest party, by 6,465. The Washington party shows up with a registration of only 2,107, while the Socialists have 1,252. Other parties, including the Prohibitionists, are so low as to be included in the scattering party registration. Nevertheless, the Republicans have a clear majority of 2,755 over the combined registration of all the other parties.

Opponents of the Republican party will no doubt find comfort in the fact that 8,095 voters did not enroll under any party name. This number however, is not sufficient to defeat the Republicans unless it votes solidly with the Democratic party. As a matter of fact this vote will split up, and divided it cannot win. The Washington party is in a hopeless minority so far as party enrollment goes, and will have to draw heavily from the other parties to pull any of its candidates through. While this is not an impossible proposition it is improbable, as those who now register their party preference are the ones who as rule stand by their colors. It looks as though the Republican party is destined to "come back" at the fall election in Washington county.

METER INSPECTION
One of the greatest services that the State Public Service Commission will perform for the people will be the regulation and standardization of meters. The commission has been working upon this proposition, and it is announced that it will soon be able to put into effect its regulation for the various kinds of meters that are used in the state. S. L. Tone of Pittsburg, a member of the Commission, has been handling this subject, and has been making a special study of it.
The great value of this regulation is that people who buy public service meter—water, gas and electricity will have some authority to appeal in case of grievances and disputes.
As a rule these have been readily adjusted by the companies themselves but in most instances have not been inclined to act arbitrarily in the matter, but in nearly all cases the public is to accept the companies' standards. This is not satisfactory, as a customer should be able to make independent tests involves extra trouble and expense.

More and more is the Public Service Commission demonstrating its great utility to the public. When the meter regulation is instituted the people have an authority to whom they can appeal in case of grievances and disputes concerning pretty nearly every form of public service. At times the Public Service Commission will be the most popular court of appeal in the state.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

"One of the 'nerviest' things I ever did was to borrow a car from from two Pittsburgh department stores for myself and a woman friend to wear on an auto ride," said an outcast woman who was visiting in Charleroi last week. "You see it was a case of emergency, and we had to have the extra wraps. It happened in this way. My friend and I were in Pittsburgh shopping, when a party of friends came motoring in to the hotel where we were stopping. They invited us to take a ride after dinner, which we gladly accepted.
"In the meantime the weather had changed and gotten decidedly cold.
My friend and I had only thin wraps, as when we came to the city, it was balmy and springlike.
"What shall we do?" queried my friend anxiously. "We can never go out on that ride with these thin wraps."

"I happened to have a charge account at two of the department stores in Pittsburgh, so I told my friend not to worry.
"Come with me," I said. "I'll fit you out."
"So we went to one of the stores where I picked out a nice thick rain coat and had it charged to my account.
Taking the coat over my arm, I went to the other store where my credit was good, and got another coat the same way. Taking these to the hotel we carefully removed the price tags, donned the coats and had our ride in comfort. When we returned we attached the tags again and I returned the coats to the stores from where I had gotten them. They were accepted without question, and were credited back to my account."

"Of all small tricks that I ever had worked on me was pulled off by a political candidate," said a prominent insurance agent from an adjoining county seat who was in town recently.
"During the last campaign a prominent candidate came to me and told me to write him up for some life insurance.
"Just make out my application and send it in," he said, "and I'll attend to the rest later on. I'm too busy now with my campaign to look after it."

how never could land him. This continued until after the election, when I sent the doctor after him who makes the examinations. The latter presently returned in disgust.
"That man doesn't want any insurance," he said. "He was only strangling you so that you and your friends would be friendly during the campaign. He told me to cancel the application."
"I've heard of different election tricks in an effort to gain votes, but that I consider to be one of the smallest that ever came to my notice."

Sure Indications of Lung Trouble

Among the indications of threatened Lung Trouble are a continued cough, fever and night sweats. A change of ill moods often helps, but it seems that something more is needed to stop the cough and sweats and arrest the progress of disease. Echinacea, however, after many years of use, is known to be the best treatment in bringing about relief. In many cases, however, it is not sufficient. No treatment, I had a terrible cough night sweats and fever in my lungs.
A man who heard me coughing advised me to take your Echinacea. I paid attention to him then. I got so bad the doctor said I should go to Wyoming.
I did, and when I got there I scarcely grew worse. Then I remembered a list had been told me about your medicine.
I began taking it, with no faith whatever, but before I had taken three bottles, I could eat anything. Fever and night sweats stopped and for over a year I have been well and in better health than I ever was.

MEANT VACATION FOR MOTHER

Her Idea of Relaxation and Complete Change Was Entirely Within Her Own Mind.

Mrs. Emberson did all the cooking, washing, mending and other household work for her family of five. Among her other duties was the making and baking of five loaves of bread three times a week, for Mr. Emberson and the growing children had hearty appetites.

At last Mrs. Emberson decided she must have a vacation.

"I feel," she told her husband, "that if I had to stand up to that bread-board and make one more batch of bread I should drop dead. I've got to have a change."

Mr. Emberson was more than willing. He had often urged her to take a rest. It was decided that she should pack up that very day and go to visit her younger sister in Kansas.

"Now, Laura," said Mrs. Emberson, as soon as she had got into a loose house dress and dropped into an easy chair, "I've come to rest and visit. I don't want you ever to ask me what I want to eat, or expect me to turn my hand to help with a thing. I'm sick and tired of housework, and I don't want even to hear it mentioned."

"All right," said Laura, laughing. "You can depend on me. I've always wanted you to rest and let somebody else take the work and worry for a little while."

At dinner the second day Mrs. Emberson said to her brother-in-law, "John, do you like baker's bread?"

"No," confessed John, "we don't any of us like it, but Laura has so much to do that I insist on buying the bread."

"You bring home some yeast this evening," said Mrs. Emberson, "and I'll make you some home-made bread."

Two weeks later, when Mrs. Emberson returned home, her husband was delighted to see how fresh and rested she looked. Nevertheless, he tried to speak severely.

"Now see here, Martha, I thought you went for a rest and change. Laura wrote that you had been baking bread for them ever since you got there. I'd like to know what change there was in that."

"O," and Mrs. Emberson laughed happily, "it was a change of bread-boards!"—Youth's Companion.

Forgotten Part of the Bible.

There is one merit which it is generally admitted that the Apocryphal books possess. For sacred books they are unusually interesting. I know that by some they have been condemned as sanguinary, fantastic, worldly, and too similar to profane literature. It may be that it is these very qualities that have made them so attractive to dramatists, musicians and artists such as Raphael and Allston. Not improbably it was these very traits that led so many painters to employ their skill in portraying Susanna at the Bath, Judith slaying Holofernes, Jeremiah prophesying in the presence of Baruch; and that incited Handel to select the career of Judea's greatest warrior, Judas Maccabees, as the theme of one of his most glorious oratorios. There are no parts of the Apocrypha more pointedly secular than are certain parts of the canonical Old Testament, such as the books of Esther, Canticles, and the older portions of Ecclesiastes—Rev. James T. Bixby, in Harper's Magazine.

Gribbling.

They have coined a new word in England, and that word is "gribbling." The word has taken its rise from the writings of Francis Gribble, an English author, who spends most of his time in writing up the love affairs of distinguished persons, and especially of those love affairs that were more or less sordid, or ended unhappily. Mr. Gribble is, indeed, an expert at this sort of thing. He does it much better than anybody else; much better, by far, than Richard Le Gallienne even did it. For one thing, Mr. Gribble has a passion, or what appears to be a passion, for the truth in these matters, and if we must have love episodes written up, it is far better that they should be written up truthfully than that they should be written up falsely. But we cannot avoid feeling that gribbling is a mistake when it becomes the main passion of a man's life, as it is in the case of Francis Gribble.

Remarkable Gift.

"A sense of humor is a fine possession. With some men, however, it goes to extremes—to ghastly extremes."

The scene was the Economic club's dinner in New York. The speaker, Mayor Hunt of Cincinnati, continued: "I used to know in Horace Annesley a man with this excessive sense of humor. Horace said to me one morning, with a ghastly laugh: 'I've got the greatest joke to tell you!'"

"Well, what is it?" said I. "You know," said Horace, "that I was examined and passed for life insurance last week? Well—ha, ha, ha!—I've been to consult a specialist this morning and he tells me I've got an incurable disease. He gives me just one year. Ha, ha, ha!"

To Be Rigidly Exact.

Regstaff—I hear you are doing some writing for one of the popular magazines.

Percolum—That's slightly exaggerated; I haven't been able to get my stuff into any but the—er—unpopular ones yet.

Cameras Barred on Italy's Frontier.

The secretary of state for foreign affairs has been informed by his majesty's charge d'affaires at Rome that the Italian government has issued regulations prohibiting the use of cameras on the whole of the Italian frontier, where there are positions of military importance, and also in places of the interior of Italy, forming prohibited areas. The purpose of these prohibited districts is to be indicated on posts and markers placed along the lines of frontier. It is further stated that if, after crossing the Italian frontier, the cameras are used in those zones they will be liable to seizure and the cameras will be subject to legal proceedings and fines. A camera or film found on a person will be the negative of a camera of importance, the consequences could be still more serious.—London Telegraph.

Shortening the Law's Delay.

A remarkable change has come over the king's bench courts, remarks the London Globe. Twelve months ago the condition of the courts was so congested that the judges were trying actions which had stood for between six months and more. Recently five actions were before the judges which were set down for trial the month before. The ex-lord chancellor once expressed the hope that judges might be in the agreeable position of saying to litigants, "Come into the courts today and we will hear you tomorrow." When litigants have to wait less than three weeks for their cases to be reached the fulfillment of this hope would appear to be not far off. Not in every part of the work of the king's bench division, however, are things so expeditious.

Roman Coins Long Hidden.

Discovery of Roman coins has just been made by a workman at Balgreggan Quarry, in the parish of Stoney Kirk, Scotland. While the quarrymen were removing soil from the top of the rock they came upon a large number of coins about a foot from the surface. On a further search being made over a hundred bronze coins were found, some of them in excellent preservation. They represent the reigns of five or six Roman emperors and empresses, and the portraits and figures of men in various attitudes of the chase and war are in many cases remarkably distinct. Part of an urn of baked clay was also found with the coins. It is ribbed on the inside, and probably contained the ashes of ancient warriors, as well as being a repository for the coins. It is believed that the coins have lain where they were found for a thousand years. Articles of antiquarian interest have already been found in the district.

Had Fun With Bridegroom.

An amusing sequel to the marriage of a young Scots Grey bandsman and a beautiful girl occurred not long ago. At the wedding which took place by special license at St. Mary's church, Scotland, the bride was accompanied only by a girl friend. The secret leaked out, and the comrades of the bridegroom docked into the church. The bride was fulfilling an engagement to an ex-lord in the city, and the bridegroom had to hasten from the church to take his place for a performance. To his amazement the band master as soon as the musicians had taken up their instruments, gave out a wedding march. While the bridegroom was bravely playing his own marriage music some people in the stall showered confetti on him.—London Mail.

Thirst Strike.

Her Husband—We shall see you "ungetstrik" next time. Sal. His Wife—Ho, ho, not ungetstrik now, that's me; (dreading) an then prays they'd forcible drink me—ah!—London Sketch.

Future Regret.

"I sometimes wish," the beautiful star peculiarly said, "that I had never become an actress." "Don't fret," replied the manager who was becoming weary of her, "you never did."

The Panama Canal Tolls Repeal

WE are hearing lots of toll exemption for American ships just now, but as there seems to be good argument on both sides, we will leave Congress settle that question. We can, however, make the application to our business. We doubt very much, if the canal toll should be taken off of American shipping that you or we would be benefitted by it. The different steamship companies would receive the difference.

Now this is not the case with our way of doing business--we exempt all tolls of middlemen expenses and bad debts accounts, and instead of placing the saving to our credit, we turn it over to our members and customers entirely by selling good goods lower than they can be bought of any other firm or corporation. We firmly believe, and to show how our members feel about this matter, we make the following statement:

The quarter just ended, has shown the highest record in sales of any quarter in the history of our association, over $13,000.00 more business than the corresponding quarter last year. All tolls of extra expenses have been exempted long ago at the Co-operative Store.
